

My son's Autism condition causes him to experience anxiety in public places he is not familiar with and to over-react to sensory stimuli, such as noise, lights, and the like. As a result, we had not been able to get him professionally photographed in years, as taking him to a studio just wasn't an option.

Christine came to our home and instantly made our son feel comfortable. She has a knack for capturing what's already presented, rather than forcing things to happen, which is crucial for a child on the Autism Spectrum. Her easy-going demeanor and flexibility made it a great experience for all of us! On top of that, she is an excellent photographer, with a gift for capturing the essence of our child.

We are so appreciative of her talent, her flexibility, and her ability to sense what a child needs to feel comfortable. Without all of these things, we would not have been able to hang our first professional portrait of our son on the wall in our home. Priceless.
