

Christine Gribble photographed my son, Nicholas, who has Down syndrome. I have hesitated taking him to an actual studio or place of business as he is not always cooperative. In general, people are not always understanding or accepting of special needs. Christine was incredible. Not only were her pictures of the utmost quality and truly amazing, but she was so good with my son. She offered to come to our home or meet at any location convenient for us. She was kind, patient and completely understanding of challenges as they presented. I think most importantly for me, I never once felt awkward or uncomfortable as some people can make you feel when you have a special needs child. Christine has an ease about her and goes with the flow. There were several moments when Nicholas became upset or shut down and Christine just took it all in stride. I actually wasn't even sure that she would be able to get any good poses, but I was absolutely thrilled when I saw the pictures. They went above and beyond my expectations. I would not hesitate to have her photograph my son again in the future, and have already recommended her to several of my friends.
